

WE NOMINATE

The 45 young Princetonians—27 men and 18 women—who are serving apprenticeships for the future as members of Princeton High School's admirably organized Student Council. This week, as schools throughout New Jersey observe the 25th anniversary of the founding of the first state-wide student council, these representatives of an undergraduate body now numbering approximately 1,000 personify all of the ideals, beliefs and traditions that ten days ago made it possible for a tidal wave of 60,000,000 Americans to participate in the election of the 34th President of the United States.

Only in the past quarter-century have educators come to place needed emphasis on self-government, in teaching "practical lessons" in democracy, and it is indicative of the Princeton way of education that the High School Council antedates the type of All-Jersey Council assembling this Friday at Rutgers University. The local Council has been developed gradually and skillfully until it now includes the elected representatives of the 29 "home rooms", together with such ex-officio members as the presidents of the four classes, officers of key extra-curricular activities and two faculty advisers.

Princeton's 11-member delegation to the Rutgers conclave is headed by the school's 27th Council President, Lucien Frohling, whose three immediate predecessors in the position have since established themselves at Princeton, Dartmouth and Harvard.

Frohling at the conference will guide a discussion of "How can the Student Council encourage participation in the School Activity Program." Classmate Richard Lanahan, President of the Athletic Association, will speak at another session on the promoting of good sportsmanship, while Sandra Smith, the Council's Recording Secretary, will be a reporter.

The Council's value as a training-ground for the years ahead is reflected in a study prepared by high school authorities of the post-school records compiled by former Council Presidents. Excluding institutions attended by those seeking advanced degrees, they moved on to 15 colleges and universities and are now engaged in 13 different fields of endeavor. Hobart Lewis, council head in 1926-27, is associate editor of an internationally circulated magazine. One is a "pre-med", another directs a Pennsylvania steel company, three others are also "in heavy industry," three are teaching, one is carrying forward industrial research and the two "girl presidents" of the past are listed as college graduates and housewives.

For accepting added responsibilities with reassuring determination and maturity; for giving their community an opportunity to observe student government at its best; for building confidently for what one of their spokesmen terms a "splendid tomorrow"; these Princetonians are TOWN TOPICS' nominees for

Random Notes. When the past month went into the record books books as the driest October in the history of the New Jersey weather bureau, opening of the small game hunting season was postponed.
 Monday's brief rainfall made it possible to open the woods and fields to sportsmen but warnings of the danger of forest fires still hold.

Fire of another sort may be planned for the community Monday night. If Princeton beats Yale at New Haven, undergraduates will celebrate their sixth straight Big Three championship in football with a torchlight parade, music, speeches and a bonfire on historic
 "Cannon Green."

As a result of his very substantial margin of victory last week in the face of the Republican landslide, Congressman Charles R.
 Howell is being mentioned among the Democratic possibilities for governor of New Jersey next year.
 Wide-open primary races in both parties are predicted, whether or not Governor Driscoll stands for re-election.

Twenty-four hours before the 150-piece Harvard band serenaded town and gown at 7 a.m. last Saturday, editors of the Harvard Crimson, student daily, pulled a journalistic coup on their Princeton contemporaries. Confiscating the freshly - printed copies of the Daily Princetonian, they distributed a thoroughly realistic bogus issue (which reported various classroom activities cancelled and scheduled the pre-game football rally in front of President Dodds' office.)

Three separate automobile accidents, worst to occur here in nearly a year, took two lives and seriously injured two other persons during the weekend. (See below for details.)

The record-breaking number of classified advertisements in this week's issue (114 column inches) include an unusually wide variety of articles for sale (among them, such items as three-quarter size violin bows, silver flutes, dapple gray hobby horses, electric trains,
 religious historical books, snow tires, typewriters, cars from one to 15 years old, furniture from modern to antique.) Also listed: a number of positions open for both men and women and an unusually large number of rentals. See pages 11, 18 and 19.

Accidents Strike. Within a period of 24 hours starting Friday night at 9:30, a man was fatally injured when his car hit the concrete side of the Harrison Street bridge over Lake Carnegie; an elderly woman was killed when struck by a car in front of her home on Harrison Street; and a doctor and his wife were seriously hurt when he swerved his car to avoid striking another on the Somerville Road.

William E. Sullivan, 44, died in Princeton Hospital Friday night of internal injuries shortly after he lost control of his car as he was driving down Harrison Street on his way home to Plainsboro. Holder of the Bronze Star, Mr. Sullivan

 General Patton's Third Army.

About 5:30 Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Catherine Watt, 67-year old widow of William H. Watt, was crossing the street in front of her home at 41 Harrison. Police report that she died almost instantly after being hit by a car operated by Charles Johnston of 355 Nassau Street. Death was attributed to a crushed chest. Sergeant Raymond Mondone placed a charge against Mr. Johnston of causing death by automobile and he will face a possible indictment by the grand jury in Trenton.

Dr. and Mrs. Ralph J. Belford of the North Road were injured at 9:10 Saturday night when his car struck a light pole on the Somerville Road near Cramer Motors. Dr.
 Belford told township police that he had been blinded by the lights of an oncoming car. He has been under observation for a possible concussion, while Mrs. Belford suffered a broken arm, broken wrist, possible broken ribs and multiple lacerations.

Meeting by Short Wave. Princeton's Civilian Defense Council will stage a unique test Wednesday night when it holds its monthly meeting with members driving throughout this section of the county and communicating with each other through radio-telephone equipped cars. A short-wave station and an airplane will also be used in the demonstration, which has been planned to test emergency communications that will operate wholly independently of public utilities.

The council's regular business will be transacted during the test, with borough and township officials, state defense officials and members of the press participating in the experiment. It is believed to be the first of its kind staged by any civilian defense group in the nation, and is expected to be of value in the event of actual emergency or disaster.

Discussion on Television. The Princeton Community Players have scheduled a panel discussion on television which members and guests will attend Wednesday night at 8:30 in Avalon, 59 Bayard Lane.
 Henry B. Ross, past president of the dramatic organization, will preside.

Participants will include Kent Paterson, television network executive; John F. Becker, producer of motion pictures for television programs; Karl Light, actor who has appeared in various productions of this nature; and Professor Alan Downer, whose teaching field is in dramatic art. It is also hoped that

It's New to Us

Mädchen in Uniform. Once your daughter sees the uniform-dresses they have at the Little Clothes Line, Palmer Square West, she will give you no peace until you buy at least one, and once you do she will probably never wear anything else, laundry or no.

These cottons are simple school dresses without embroidery or pretense. But over each one is an apron that gives it character: the blue and white stripe with white collar and cuffs has a severe white pinafore with a large "First Aid" button pinned to the bosom. A starched white cap goes along and you have a complete nurse's outfit.

Then, there's a navy blue trimmed in white. Its bib apron is in red flowered print, with big pockets. A set of plastic spoons dangles from the waist to remind the wearer that she is a cook. The third dress, in coral, has a short white apron with white bandeau for the head and a pocket that contains the waitress' pencil and pad.

Without apron, all these dresses are perfectly acceptable for school — the outfits are not costumes in any sense. (But try to get her to school without the apron.)

Off duty, she might like to relax in a nightie-peignoir-slipper set. These sets are flannellette in pastels, with a three-bear motif embroidered on the front in outline stitch. The gown ($3.95) has a high ruffled neck, long ruffled sleeves, the peignoir ($5.95) has a deep ruffle at the hem. Slippers ($1.95) stay on with an ankle tie.

For You, Too. At Bailey's, 14 Witherspoon, you'll find a flannellette lounge set almost exactly like your daughter's. Pajamas here, instead of a gown, with a brunch-length coat on top. (Fashion query: how can a coat be as long as a brunch?)

The one we liked was yellow and black houndstooth with plain yellow pants. Pajamas are $2.98, robe is $3.98, and quilted flannel slippers are only 98c. Slippers have black knit tops, so you know they'll stay on. There are other patterns and colors besides the yellow, in case you have no desire to resemble a hound's tooth.

We looked over the maternity clothes Mr. Bailey has in stock, and if your horizons are expanding, you might look, too. Here's a spun rayon two-piece suit in grey, trimmed with white angora on pocket and collar, for $12.95. A dressed-up suit is made of heavy cord in black and white with red velvet at the neck to give your spirits a lift. For $14.95.

For at-home occasions, you'd like a hunter green corduroy that has a beige jersey yoke. This is only $9.95, a good price to pay for something you'll never wear again after the baby comes, no matter what they tell you.

New twist on the T-shirt: this one in mercerized cotton, has a little boy white collar that detaches. Wear the shirt with, or without. Colors are bright red, black, green, navy or maize, for $2.98.

Incidentally, if you are given to expressing yourself through dance, or if you are just body-building, you'll need a leotard, and Bailey's is the place to buy one. Short or long sleeves, sunback or high-neck style.

Cosmetics in Your Home. The Beauty Counselor cosmetic line is one that comes to your door at the tip of your finger. You may phone Adeline Cima (1116) and she will come to your living-room to show — Continued on Page 8

Business Association to Meet. The November meeting of the Princeton Business Association will be held Monday night at 8:30 at the Princeton Inn. It will be preceded at 7:30 by a buffet supper in the Dutch Room.

Principal items of business will be discussion of the need for off-street parking in the business area and further consideration of the ordinance controlling the activities of itinerant vendors which the association hopes to have passed by the mayor and council. Jack Turner, Jr., president of the group, will preside.

Vendors to Be Licensed. Mobile vendors, banned in the borough earlier this fall, will be licensed to operate in Princeton township under an ordinance introduced by its board of health Monday night. Fond vendors of all types (both mobile and stationary) will be required to pay $15 annual fees, starting January 1.

Out-of-town caterers who follow their trade in the township will come under the terms of the ordinance, but all non-profit and charitable organizations will be exempt. The measure, introduced by Dr. William Kleinberg, township health officer, was passed on first reading and will have a public hearing on December 8.

Plans to number the lots on township streets were also made known at the meeting. The project, which is gauged to prevent confusion in the future as houses come to require numbers, will cost about $60 per mile or $1,500 for the 25 miles involved.

Chest Drive Lags. The Community Chest has $38,672 to date but has nearly $19,000 more to raise if it is to achieve its 1952 goal. Chest officials report, however, that they anticipate success.

Teachers of the public schools in town hold the distinction of being the only group so far to surpass their contributions of last year. With $1,602 to their credit, they

Those who have not been solicited but who would like to contribute are asked to send their gifts to the Community Chest, 166 Nassau Street.

Art Exhibit at Yale. Princetonians in New Haven for the Yale football game this weekend will find an exhibit in the Payne Whitney Gymnasium of particular interest. It consists of the sculpture of Joseph Brown, Assistant Professor of Art and Archaeology at Princeton University.

Widely known as an artist and a boxing instructor, Professor Brown has 41 pieces of statuary on display. Most of them are athletes (football, baseball, soccer players, wrestlers, boxers, etc.) but the show includes other pieces. Among them are heads of the poet Robert Frost and President Harold W. Dodds.

Window Painting Awards. First-place prize winners, merchants who donated window space and contest judges were guests of the Lions Club Tuesday night at dinner at the Nassau Tavern. The occasion marked completion of another successful window-painting contest staged by the club on Hallowe'en.

Sunday Songfest. The Society of Musical Amateurs will meet Sunday afternoon at 5:15 at Miss Fine's School to sing two cantatas by Bach and Mozart's Mass in F Major, with accompanying orchestra. Professor J. Merrill Knapp will direct.

at their fall meeting Wednesday night at 8. All alumnae of the college are invited to meet Mrs. Douglas Delaney, first vice-president of the Alumnae Association.

Reports will be given on the alumnae meetings held at Bryn Mawr this week and color slides of campus scenes will be shown. Hostesses will include Miss Constance G. Bristol, club president; Mrs. Homer Thompson, secretary, and Mrs. William Walker, treasurer.

Miscellany. Princeton Post No. 76, American Legion, reports that it has no program of solicitation involving the public now in progress, and that men in veterans'-type overseas caps have been asking for contributions in return for miniature American flags. Those who do not offer to contribute have been upbraided and insulted, the Legion adds. Princetonians are advised to ask for such solicitors' credentials, and if none are forthcoming, to notify the police.

Books for all ages will be sold Monday through Friday from 10 to 4 in the front hall of Miss Fine's School by members of its alumni association. A wide variety of subjects will be covered and the sale, held in cooperation with Travers Book Store of Trenton, will be open to the public.

Pupils from 28 schools in the Princeton Red Cross chapter area are enrolling this week in the Junior Red Cross. Members will pack 600 Christmas stockings for children in hospitals and other institutions within the state, and will cooperate with other junior members in sending stockings to Portuguese orphans in the Azores.

More than 5,000 children in the area are currently enrolled, with the past year the most active since this part of the Princeton chapter's program was organized in 1940. Among the projects completed were filling 600 Easter boxes for blind children, making Christmas cookies, knitting afghans, sewing and stuffing animal toys, sending gift boxes overseas, making international school albums and aiding the children of migrant workers. Tray mats and favors for convalescent soldiers at Fort Dix and patients in Princeton and Trenton Hospitals were made in large numbers.

The high school PTA will meet Tuesday night at 8:15 to hear Lewis R. Applegate discuss "State Aid to Education." Mr. Applegate, secretary of the New Jersey Citizens Committee for State School Aid, will illustrate his talk with a motion picture, "Investing in Children." Open to the public, the meeting is of topical interest because the state legislature is expected to consider a bill early next year requesting additional state aid to education.

The Kingston PTA heard a report at its November meeting by Mrs. V. J. Fenili on the PTA convention in Atlantic City. Benjamin Olsen, Barbara Stevens and Norman Schubert conducted a panel discussion on the topic, "What We Can Do to Improve Our Schools" and Miss Dorothy Vao Gorder, librarian of the Somerset Mobile Library, spoke on "Growing up with Books." The PTA will sponsor a rummage sale this Friday from 1 to 5 at the Laurel Avenue School.

A meeting of the Rosedale Chapel trustees will be held in the chapel Wednesday night at 7:30. All residents of the Rosedale area are invited to attend.

Members of the Unitarian Fellowship, their children and guests, will hold a supper Sunday, November 23, at Avalon. While motion pictures shown by William Schmidt entertain the children, William La-Tourrette of the Garden State Service Cooperative will give an illustrated talk on Porto Rico.

Children's Book-Week will be observed at the Princeton Public Library starting Monday, with new books on exhibit through November 29. Children from grades one through five are invited to a party Thursday, November 20, at 3:15 to hear Miss Cateau de Leeuw, author and illustrator of children's books, as guest story-teller.

Grades six through high school are invited to a program the same day at 4:15. A talk will be given by Miss Adele de Leeuw, author of books for young adults, and a reception with refreshments will follow. Free tickets are available at the library.

Sons have been born to Mr. and Mrs. William Rodewell, 14 Chestnut Street, Mr. and Mrs. Graham Rohrer, 47 Cedar Lane; Mr. and Mrs. David Beammer, 100 Stockton Street; Mr. and Mrs. Archibald A. Browne, 70 Cleveland Lane; daughters to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wells, Constitution Hill; Mr. and Mrs. William Swannhart, Plainsboro; Mr. and Mrs. Chester Czelewski, Dutch Neck.

A meeting of the Princeton Night Air Reserve will be held Wednesday night at 8 o'clock. It will take place in the ROTC armory on Washington Road.

you her lotions and cremes. We think the packaging of Beauty Counselor is especially attractive. You'll find travel cases, a "Five-O'Clock Kit" in a snap zipper bag, and a party snapper just like the ones you buy the kids, this one containing hand lotion, cologne, and guest soap.

Then a Christmas cornucopia, a grandmother's clock with pressed powder forming its face, a memo pad that holds eye-shadow and pencil—all striking in design and execution. Price of a lipstick is $1 or $1.50, to give you an idea of the price range. Men's toiletries, too, in pine scent and hunter green box.

Pyrex Goes Formal. When you buy Pyrex, you know you're buying quality. Now, it seems, you're buying style, as well. Urken's, 27 Witherspoon, has just received some brand-new Pyrex in color—baking ware that hasn't even been nationally advertised yet.

There's a nine-inch pie plate (60c); round two-quart baking dish; a round two-quart casserole with clear glass cover; a two-quart square baking and serving dish; a round one you could bake a cake in this; and an oblong one like the rest. They come in lime green or flamingo (a peach shade) and the lining is shiny white.

Pyrex emphasizes that these dishes will be much easier to clean than the usual metal pan, and they are certainly better to look at. You could put any of them on any table. And if one of the dishes breaks from oven heat, you have a two-year replacement warranty, so what can you lose?

Solid chrome kitchen cutlery for five-plate prices: you can buy a silver handle for only $1.95; middle-sized or baby ladies for even less than that; a cooking spoon (perforated or not), servers, pancake turners, and so on—all shiny and stainless. Most of these are about $1.50.

Hostessing. A chafing dish you can afford—that's the offering of The Town Shop, 12 Nassau. It's ceramic, with a copper top and wrought iron legs. For $15.50, with a casserole just like it for $8.50, warmed by a candle. Two-quart capacity in each.

A wooden cheese plate has a hub of tile with a cheese map of France drawn on it. The edges of the wooden plate slope in slightly so that crackers won't skate into your lap. To cover the cheese and keep it moist, The Town Shop has a clear plastic dome with mouse hand-painted on its curve. You'll pay $6.50, but then the mouse is hand-painted which is more than we can say for most mice we know.

A cheese board for only $3.50 has a brilliant rock on its surface. You could slice on this board, serve on it, use it anywhere. Why not get a Swedish cheese-slicer, too? Scrape it across a block of hard cheese, the way Swedish people do. It's $3.75, in aluminum.

From France, a real French casserole in a terra-cotta colored porcelain that looks like rough-hewn pottery. A rabbit or pheasant head gives a clue to contents. The shape is pointed oval—quite strange to an American eye. It costs only $12.50.

Slip Into a Slipper. The coldest football feet will be warmed, post-game, by the sheer-lined slipper at Brophy's, 78 Nassau. The slipper has a one-piece full sole, Indian-style, and Mr. Brophy says it's a true moonskin. Looks wonderful, in brown for men, reddish mahogany for women. About $7.50, depending on sex.

The New Jersey Poll
 POLL PREDICTIONS RIGHT;
 REASON FOR GOP VICTORY
 SHOWN IN VOTE ANALYSIS

The New Jersey Poll again lived up to its reputation as the most accurate public opinion poll in the nation—one that has never made a wrong prediction.
 A comparison of the November predictions with the November 4 vote shows:

N. J. PRESIDENTIAL

	Prediction	Actual Vote
Eisenhower	56.6%	57.2%
Stevenson	42.9	42.3
Other	.5	.5

U. S. SENATE, N. J.

South	53.6%	55.5%
Alexander	45.4	44.1
Other	1.0	.4

CONGRESSIONAL VOTE, N. J.

Republican	54.9%	56.3%
Democrat	45.1	53.7

The actual results of the election show that on the average the New Jersey Poll came within 1.2% on each individual prediction — well within the range of expected statistical variation.

Analysis of the results of the final election survey made by the New Jersey Poll—the survey that caught the big upsurge in Eisenhower sentiment and predicted Ike and Adlai's vote in the state within half a percentage point—makes one fact abundantly clear: many population segments made possible the overwhelming GOP victory.

The 12 population segments in the state which furnished the highest proportions of Ike voters on Election Day were: Regular members of the GOP; 1948 Dewey voters; those with partial or complete college educations; professional workers; those too young to vote in 1948; business owners and managers; white-collar workers (sales-clerical); home owners; those 25 to 29 (old enough to vote in 1948); women; and Independent voters.

In each of the above 12 groups, Ike's proportion of the vote was greater than that given to him by the state as a whole.

In seven other population groups, Eisenhower received the majority vote. But in each of the seven groups, Ike's proportion of the vote was less than that given to him by the state as a whole. These seven were: Those with partial or complete high school educations; men; those not voting in 1948; skilled craftsmen; home renters; those 30 to 44 years of age; and those with grade school or no formal educations.

In the five other population groups examined in today's survey, the majority vote went to Stevenson.

These follow: manual workers; labor union members (manual workers only); 1948 Truman voters; Wallace voters; and regular members of the Democratic Party.

The paintings of Richard K. Hoagland are on display at Princeton Group Arts second floor galleries, 14 Spring Street, and may be seen weekdays from 10 to 5 through November 28. A graduate of Cornell, Mr. Hoagland traveled for two years in Europe, visiting art galleries in several countries and has studied with several well-known artists here.
"Poetry and the Enemy" is the topic of an address to be given this Friday morning at a special Book-Week Assembly at Miss Fine's School by Dr. Carlos Baker. He is chairman of the Department of English at Princeton University.

Hun School alumni will hold a "home-coming day" Saturday in connection with the school's final football game of the season. Registration at 11 and luncheon at noon will precede the game at 1:30. Following the contest, alumni will gather at the Princeton Inn. Reservations should be made through Robert McCarthy (2468), chairman of the affair, or John F. McCarthy Jr. (3962).
George Sorenson and John Beebe, 3d are Princeton residents on the high honor roll at Hun. Jackson Shepard is on the honor roll.

The Montgomery Community Players are busy rehearsing for their production of "Blythe Spirit" to be staged Friday and Saturday, November 21 and 22, at 8 p.m. in the Harlingen Church House. Thomas E. Potter is directing, with the cast currently going through its paces in the home of G. W. Norton in Belle Mead.

The Trenton-Princeton Mount Holyoke Club will meet Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Lansing Tostevin in Lawrenceville. The speaker will be Mrs. John Mills, Mount Holyoke alumnae secretary. Mrs. Mills will visit Miss Fine's and Princeton High School Thursday to give students information on the scholarships to Mount Holyoke being offered by the Trenton-Princeton Club, as well as the six new $1,400 Emily Dickinson scholarships being offered by the college.

the state voted on November 4. The 12 that furnished the highest proportions of Ike voters:

	Ike	Adlai
Regular members of the GOP	98.6%	1.4%
1948 Deyes voters	95.0	5
Those with partial or complete college education	70.8	29.2
Professional workers	68.4	31.6
*Those too young to vote in 1948	68	32
Business owners and managers	67.6	32.4
White-collar workers (sales-clerical)	67	33
Home owners	63	37
*Those 25 to 29 years (old enough to vote in 1948)	60.5	39.5
Those 45 years and over	60.1	39.9
Women	60	40
Independent voters	59.5	40.5
*Groups with normally strong Democratic leanings

And here's the vote of the seven groups where Ike received a majority but where the vote was less than that given to him by the state as a whole:

	Ike	Adlai
Those with partial or complete high school education	56.5%	43.5
Men	56.2	43.8
Those not voting in 1948	56.0	44.0
Skilled craftsmen	54.0	46.0
*Home renters	53.2	46.8
Those 30 to 44 years of age	52.8	47.2
*Those with grade school or no formal education	52.1	47.9
*Groups which in the past have shown strong Democratic leanings.

And here's the way the vote divided among those groups where majority sentiment went to Stevenson:

	Ike	Adlai
Manual workers	49.5%	50.5%
Labor union members (manual workers only)	42.5	57.5
1948 Truman voters	26.0	74.0
Wallace voters	20.0	80.0
Democrats	10.5	89.5

PRINCETON SYMPHONY

The Princeton Symphony Orchestra will give its first concert of the fall this Saturday at 8:30 p.m. at McCarter Theatre. Nicholas Hatsanyi will conduct and Rosalia Maresca, young dramatic soprano from New York, will be the soloist.

Miss Maresca has had wide experience in radio, television and with opera companies. She will sing "O Del Mio Amato Ben" by Donaudy and two popular arias by Verdi, "Pace, Pace, Mio Dio" from "La Forza del Destino" (which opened the Met season on Monday) and "Ritorna Vincitor" from "Aida."

The concert will also mark the first performance of "Elegie for Strings," written for the Princeton Orchestra by Mrs. Mathilde McKinney, of The Great Road. Mrs. McKinney was for eight years the pianist of the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra under Fritz Reiner.

Other works on the program will include the "Egmont Overture" by office the evening of the concert.

Children's Concert. The Princeton Symphony will also give a special concert at 3:30 p.m. Saturday at McCarter as a part of the Children's Entertainment Series. An added feature of the performance will be the appearance of the Princeton Handbell Choir. The group consists of a dozen University students, under the direction of Scott B. Parry '54, who ring English handbells with a range of three chromatic octaves.

Mrs. Harold Van Doren, who is the narrator for the young people's concerts of the Philadelphia Orchestra, will provide background and narration for the program. In addition to the above noted works by Beethoven, Ravel and Borodin, the orchestra will accompany the children in singing the "Prayer Song" from the opera "Hansel and Gretel."

McCARTER THEATRE

The Mikado plays McCarter this Thursday at 8:30 p.m. in a new production by the American Savoyards. Now giving single performances over the country and alternating "The Mikado" and "Patience," the company is directed by

NEWS OF THE THEATRES
Dorothy Raedler, who has staged Gilbert and Sullivan for many years, Ronald Bush will play the crown prince of Japan in the G & S classic.
EUROPA THEATRE
Vienna Melodies will play through Saturday at the Art Theatre in New Brunswick at the corner of Somerset and Scott. A post-war German film, it is principally Strauss waltzes in production-number form. Elsie Meyerhofer, a recording artist who is better known in Europe than in this country, is featured. Showings are at 7 and 9 p.m.

THE PLAYHOUSE
The Quiet Man (Thurs.-Sat.) is another superior achievement for the versatile director John Ford ("The Informer," "Stagecoach"). The story is a simple romantic tale, but Ford has captured the feel of a nation and its people and customs by consummate attention to provincial detail. Ireland is practically the star of the film and the charm of the country is presented with a mood, plot, tempo, style and technique different from anything to come from Hollywood in years.
In outline John Wayne as a retired American prizefighter comes to Ireland to retire, falls in love with and marries Maureen O'Hara. Enroute, he arouses the ire of Victor McLaglen and the film ends with an epic struggle between the two.

Barry Fitzgerald is a natural as the general character of the village. A group of Abbey Theatre players also lend their talents and the Technicolor photography is magnificent.

Operation Secret (Sun. - Tues.) bids for the melodrama fans. The plot deals with underground work in World War II, with the added complication of struggle between Americans and Communists for stolen German jet plane diagrams. Cornel Wilde, Steve Cochran, Karl Malden and Phyllis Thaxter are the principals. Semi-documentary treatment and actual captured Nazi films are used to create an exciting realism. Murder also adds to the thrills.

The Prisoner of Zenda (Wed.-Sat.) filmed for the fourth time, now gets the full swashbuckling Technicolor treatment. Dashing played on a spectacular scale, the movie has a light touch of the burlesque to temper the heroics. Stewart Granger plays a double role of the kidnapped king of a mythical European country and a visiting Englishman who impersonates the former. He does his dueling with James Mason, the duly diabolical villain, and his romancing with Deborah Kerr, the lovely princess. Lots of hard riding and fighting (with dagger, sword, gun, knife and fist) and backstairs intrigue to make sure you get your money's worth.

THE GARDEN
Way of a Gaucho (Fri. - Sat.) rates as somewhat more adult than the common run of American Westerns and much of the interest rests on the pampas, the towering Andes and the people of Argentina where the film was made. It appears that 75 years ago in Argentina, one could go around killing people and wind up in the army for punishment. Rory Calhoun finds himself in this spot, deserts to bandit life, makes a pick-up of Gene Tierney and finally goes straight. Despite several genuinely fine passages, the film never quite rings the bell.

On Approval (Mon.-Tues.) is a British film being reissued. No advance information is available and it has not been seen by this department.

The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari (Wed.-Thurs.) is a silent fantasy and in several ways a classic. Made in Germany in 1919, the film stars Conrad Veidt. Another import, "The Last Laugh," will be shown along with it.

LANGHORNE PLAYERS
Happy Birthday, Helen Hayes' vehicle of a few years back, will be presented at the Langhorne, Pa., Players Barn Theatre next Wednesday, Friday and Saturday. Madeline Sweeney will play the role of an ordinary librarian who celebrates with the first drink of her life.

Three decades ago, the Princeton football team upset Chicago, then a Big Ten power, defeated both Harvard and Yale and finished unbeaten. Last weekend, these 11 men gathered again for the Harvard-Princeton game, holding a reunion at the Nassau Club as they do once in five years. "On the line" are Donald W. Griffin and Harlan F. Baker of Princeton; Albrit F. Howard, Oliver P. Aford; Melville P. Dickinson, formerly of Princeton and captain of the 1922 team; Harvey Emery and Howard Gray. "In the backfield" are Charles W. Caldwell, now in his eighth year as Princeton's head coach; John Westerfield; R. Braddock Dinsmore and John P. Gorman, both of Princeton.

Sports in Princeton

Rebound at Yale. No Eastern college has experienced more of a change in its football fortunes in the past 12 months than Yale. A year ago, the Elis came into Palmer Stadium with a 2-4-1 record, were whitewashed, 27-0, by Princeton and the following week barely climbed into a 21-21 tie with a weak Harvard outfit. That proved to be the last verse in Herman Hickman's swansong.

As late as last August, Hickman cancelled his ten-year contract (which had nine years to run) and Yale called on Jordan Oliver to replace him. Picked as line coach after Peabody Walker had departed the New Haven elms, Oliver hadn't even seen his squad go through spring practice. Yale had jumped the Ivy gun on this announcement and cancelled out even before its sister colleges did so.

But Oliver, a Villanova alumnus and former coach at his alma mater, likes to coach a passing team and he found a passer on the Eli squad. He bought 170-lb. Ed Molloy, along from a 1951 substitute to a 1952 star, and he gave the Blue the kind of morale that never existed under Hickman.

The Elis opened with a victory over Connecticut, were thumped by a good Navy team but rebounded to take their next five in a row. Brown, Columbia, Cornell, Lafayette and Dartmouth all went down before the passing of Molloy (usually to end Ed Woodsum) and the running of fullback Jerry Jones. Thus the 6-1 record Yale will take into the game Saturday at 1:30 is the best it has put on the line for six years. That was also the last season in which it defeated Princeton.

Oliver will field a veteran offensive platoon composed entirely of juniors and seniors. The backfield is rounded out by halfbacks Pete Shears and Hubert Pruett, juniors as are Molloy and Jones.

The latter two are well up in individual ground-gaining statistics. Molloy, ranking third in the Ivy Group in total offense and Jones third in rushing. Molloy has a pass completion average of about 50%, has picked up 924 yards in the air and ten touchdowns. Yale can be figured to pass consistently, since no opponent has gained steadily through Princeton's spotlight defensive line.

The Elis, however, have also shown up well on defense and the statistics actually favor them over their opponents this weekend. Yale's mark of 207.4 yards yielded per game is about 11 yards better than Princeton and is tops in the Ivy Group, with the Tigers second. On offense, Charlie Caldwell's single wing operatives have a wide margin. They have run and passed for an average of 422 yards per game, with the Elis pegged at 358 in the runner-up slot.

Crimson Overpowered. It was the solid Princeton attack that blew the game with Harvard wide open in Palmer Stadium Saturday after as exciting a first half as the football faithful have witnessed in 15 years or more. The Orange and Black's 41-21 victory marked the first time that either university has ever defeated the other six times in a row.

Late-comers must have taken a mighty oath never to miss another kickoff, for the first four plays of the game produced 13 points and two of the most dramatic open field runs of the season. Harvard's Jerry Elitz (who got a second chance because Princeton was off-side the first time) ran the kickoff back 93 yards. Homer Smith promptly retaliated by going 73 yards on the first play from scrimmage but Jack Newell missed the point and the Tigers were down 7-6 with a minute and nine seconds gone.

Princeton fumbled once and then lost the first of three passes on interceptions, failing to score again during the quarter. But before the period ended, it had launched a drive that eventually covered 90 yards and gave the home force a 13-7 lead in 2:56 of the second round.

Another pass boomeranged, Harvard's Bob Cowles running a wobbly Unger aerial back to the Princeton one and John Culver plunging across. That gave the visitors a 14-13 margin with just over two minutes to go but the Tigers proved themselves a solid outfit by striking through the air for 75 yards and their third score less than a minute later. Bill Tiyon engineered the TD with his aerials, one to Frank McPhee eating up 14 yards and Ron Huseuth taking another across from five yards out.

The second half was all Princeton, as it rolled 73, 66 and 65 yards for three more touchdowns before Harvard counted again on a 42-yard pass in the final ten seconds of the game. In a battle of single wing teams, the Tigers controlled the ball beautifully, running 56 plays in the second half to 28 for the lovers.

The occasion was one of personal triumph for Homer Smith, 188-lb, fullback who has been the main reason for the Tigers' success on the attack this season. In averaging 105 yards per carry, he ran for 273 to break by 11 yards the individual rushing record that Dick Kzenner set against Brown a year ago. Smith's performance was capped by his four touchdowns.

SMITH TURNS HARVARD GAME INTO A TRACK MEET AS HE SETS RUSHING RECORD

The Tiger fullback, ranked with the East's best as a junior, off on the second of his three long runs in the Harvard game. After he had covered 46 yards to the Harvard 19, Joe Ross (85) finally brought him down. In running 273 yards for a Princeton record, Smith gained 58 yards more than the entire Crimson offensive total for the day, despite the fact that the visitors had gone into the game with the best rushing average of any major team in the East.

Ranking him with Jack Davison as the only Princetonian to score that many against a Big Three rival, running like a line huster until he hit the secondary and then out-distancing his pursuers like a break-away halfback (Frank O'Gara in the Philadelphia Inquirer wrote that "Smith alternately chose to be ball mouse or gazelle"), the Nassau junior gave a tremendous performance. His gains came largely on a guard-play trip, in which one guard is power-blocked, the other is allowed to come through and then falls victim to a scythe-like operation while Smith goes through the resulting hole. It was frequently a tremendous gap, and the five Yale chasers charting Princeton's offense could not have been very happy about what they saw.

Sixth Big Three Title? The game in the Bowl this Saturday figures to be particularly worth watching, and upwards of 50,000 persons are expected to be present for the occasion, Princeton, of course, is aiming for its sixth straight Big Three crown and its third victory in a row on the Elis' own field. This, too, is something the Tigers have never accomplished; after winning there in 1933 and 1935, they were thoroughly set back in the mud in 1937 when Clint Frank scored all the touchdowns in a 26-0 contest.

The Molloy-to-Woodsum aerial circus has Princeton worried to some degree, but a line that includes Frank McPhee and Brad Chase, a 111 lb. man, tremendous pressure on the passer. Worth watching, too, will be Byron Shaffer, who returned to action Saturday on the defensive platoon after starting at right end on offense until he was hurt at Cornell. Shaffer has developed the knack of drifting as a third line-backer and has gained a thorough knowledge of the game.

The return of end Harvey Mathis, halfback Buzz Taylor and safetyman Ned Jannotta to the defense will strengthen the team materially. None of these players was dressed for the Harvard contest because of injuries.

Despite upsets that have dotted the series, there is good reason to install Princeton as a heavy favorite for this particular engagement. Give the Elis the edge in passing; give it the advantage of playing on its home field, backed by a feeling of confidence it has not had in years, give it the opportunity of gambling with the unorthodox and the occasional rich rewards; and you have listed virtually all its potential reasons for victory.

Check off against that: a starting Princeton defensive platoon that has allowed only one touchdown from scrimmage in the past four games, and that from the one-yard line after a pass interception; an offensive line whose ends and guards give it the nod over Yale; and a backfield that is as good or better than the Blue at each of the four positions.

Ralph Willis does not have to match Ed Molloy in passing but is at least his equal as a field general. Bob Unger and Earl Byrne have more speed and greater broken-field ability than either of the Elis halfbacks, Sheers or Pualet. Terry Jones is the Blue's most powerful running threat and has progressed rapidly as a fullback. But for purposes of comparison he is matched against Homer Smith, and Homer today is the best fullback on the Eastern seaboard. Bar none, that is.

Departmentalizing, Princeton also holds the edge in three vital categories. Statistics to the contrary, the Tigers have the better defensive team. More than half the yardage they have yielded has gone to badly beaten outfits playing against inexperienced reserves.

Offensively, Princeton banks on a ground game built around power blocking, deception and speed. Yale will counter with the quick-opening T, deception and tipoff passing. But while no one will deny that the Elis have their best chance of winning since Feid Naderney, Levi Jackson and Stu Tisdale were their offensive threats, it is not likely that an aerial-minded T team with no better than average defense will defeat a hard-running single wing outfit backed by a defensive platoon of well above average ability.

Ticket Howls. Princetonians are none too happy about Yale's new ticket policy. The Elis will present cheering sections on both sides of the field, and allocated only half the usual number of seats between the goal lines to their opponents.

The "youngest" Princeton class to receive seats along the playing area is 1915. That won't make for the best viewing in the Bowl, where the stands fall away from the field instead of towering above it. If available, field glasses will be a distinct asset.

Hon Tops PHS. Hun School registered a convincing 19-13 victory over Princeton High a week ago. It was number four of the season for the Red and Black and clinched a best-in-recent years record.

Hun is now 4-2-1 and is clearly favored over the much-beaten — Continued on Page 17

Trains to New Haven

A special train will leave the Pennsylvania lower yards Saturday at 7:05 a.m., arriving at New Haven at 9:45. It will return direct to Princeton, leaving at 6 p.m. and arriving here at 8:55 p.m. Round trip tickets at $7.50 are on sale at the Dillon Gymnasium ticket office.

The regular train from Princeton at 9:40 a.m. connects at Princeton Junction with a train that goes to New Haven without change in New York.

Eastern Military Academy in the Fathers' Day game this Saturday. The game will start at 1:30 p.m. Princeton High, on the other hand, is still looking for victory after six futile efforts.

PHS will also play at home this Saturday, meeting Lakewood at 2:15 p.m. This may be the Little Tigers' chance, as their opponents are also suffering through a miserable season.

Lakewood has dropped six games and has only a respectable tie with Manasquan on the plus side. Should Joe Jangoli's charges fail to win this one, Long Branch is virtually certain to dish out a crushing defeat in the finale of what is possibly the high school's all-time football low.

In the intra-borough contest, the score could just as well be written: Skip Porter 19, PHS, 13. The former Hamilton High ace went over three times and added the lone Hun placement. The 175-pound fullback scored on a 56-yard run after a fumbled punt, and bucks from the one and the five. He picked up 147 yards in 23 carries for an average of 6.3 yards a try.

Hun ran the opening series from scrimmage, but stalled on a 15-yard penalty. Porter then booted to Bob Montgomery at midfield, but the PHS back fumbled on the Hun 44. The pigskin was picked up by Porter who sprinted down the sidelines untouched and then kicked the point.

At the close of the first quarter, the Red and Black launched a drive of 91 yards which produced its second touchdown. Altogether the sequence took 16 plays, the biggest of them Porter's 35-yard dash off right tackle on the opening play of the second period. Ralph Jenkins saved the Little Tigers for the moment by nailing Porter from behind on the 14.

Two penalties totaling 20 yards failed to halt the advance. In addition, tailback Ray Alberigi fumbled about 10 yards from paydirt, but in the scramble Bud Gehrich, Hun guard, recovered on the five. Porter and Billy Walsh each carried to set the ball down on the one and then the fullback piled over the center of the line to score.

Hua was on the move once again as the half ended. Princeton High got itself back into the game, however, by capitalizing on a break in the first two minutes of the third period. Alberigi fumbled and Stanton Clark, reserve guard, recovered for PHS on the Hun 30.

Two plays on the ground lost four yards, and then Al Terry faded way back, pitching a long aerial to Bob Taylor. The Little Tiger end hauled in the ball on the eight and made his way to the three before he was pulled down.

Captain Cal Ruedemana went off his right tackle for the touchdown on the next play. Boh Montgomery passed to Larry Fitzgerald for the extra point. Hun came right back with a drive of 56 yards from its own 20, but ran out of downs.

Another fumbled punt, this time by Bob Bosley, set up the third Red and Black score. George Stout, Hun center who played for PHS in 1950 and '51, fell on the ball near the Blue and White 25. Porter got a first down in two cracks at the line, and Walsh and Alberigi carried down to the five. Once again Porter bulled off guard to go over with tacklers hanging on.

In the final minute of the game, Princeton's Art Riccio broke through from his guard position to block Porter's punt from his own 22. Taylor wound up with the pigskin on the four-yard line. Three carries netted only three of the needed yards, but Terry finally slipped over right tackle for the six points.

Princeton was outplayed all the way, getting only four first downs to 14 for Hun. Nevertheless, the game marked the first time this year that the Blue and White has scored twice in an afternoon. Jess Willard's Hun charges have scored 93 points in seven games thus far.

P.H.S. Soccer Team Wins. Princeton High School's soccer team topped Lawrenceville, 2-1, last week for its third victory in seven starts. Gene Richey accounted for both the victors' goals, scoring twice in the first half before the losers averted a shutout in the third period.

In addition to Richey, Bob Stewart, Boh Thomas and Winston George stood out for the Blue and White. Games this week were scheduled with Long Branch and Jamesburg.

Now! You can look years younger with Helena Rubinstein's new Contour-Lift Film

(a day and night firming treatment for age-betraying contours)

CONTOUR-LIFT FILM is a phenomenal new beauty discovery that can make you look years younger . . . and feel years younger! A miraculous invisible fluid—it promises amazing results for women, young and old, with sagging chin lines, flabby facial contours, wrinkles, lines or puffiness under the eyes.

1 "LIFTS" FACIAL CONTOURS—Sagging chin lines seem to disappear. Your face feels toned, uplifted. You see that droopy look vanish.

2 FIRMS RELAXED SKIN—Revigorates skin tissue. Flabbiness becomes more taut. Skin glows with a new, firm freshness.

3 TIGHTENS AND SMOOTHS—Smooths out wrinkles for hours at a time. Helps banish nose-to-mouth furrows, over-emphasized expression lines and wrinkled brows.
